Immigration Bill Under Discussion in the Senate.

EDUCATIONAL REQUIREMENTS.

The House Waiting the Preparation of the Appropriation Bill—Bill to Prohibit the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors in the Capitol Building Passed—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The senate got into the regular channel of business yesterday, taking up the immigration bill and partly perfecting it and also hearing the first of the speeches on Cuba, those of Mr. Cullom and Mr. Call.

The disposition to put through the immigration bill was shown by the defeat of a motion by Mr. Gibson of Maryland to postpone the measure until after the holidays. Only 13 votes, all Democrats, were given in favor of the postponement. The proposition served to involve Messrs. Chandler, Lodge and Gibson in several spirited personal colloquies. The merits of the immigration question were discussed in a general way on several proposed amendments. Mr. Vest and Mr. Palmer suggested that limits should be placed on the restrictions, while Mr. Lodge and Mr. Chandler urged that the restrictions be sweeping in character. The bill was not passed on up to the time of adjournment, but the senate agreed to what is generally known as the Lodge bill as a substitute to the house measure. The substitute requires that all immigrants over the age of 14 years shall be able to read and write their native language and shall be required to read and write in the presence of a United States official at least five lines of the United States constitution.

The Cuban speeches of Mr. Cullom and Mr. Call were listened to by crowded galleries indicating the public interest felt in this subject. The senate adjourned over to Monday.

HOUSE.

Two Bills of Minor Importance Passed During a Four-Hours Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Pending the preparation of the next appropriation bill the house again yesterday devoted its time to the consideration of bills on the calendar, but only two were passed during the four hours' session. One of them was a bill which the prominent playwrights and theatrical managers of the country have been laboring for some years to induce congress to pass. The purpose of the measure is two-fold, (1) to secure the musical compositions the copyright law as is now afforded productions of strictly dramatic character, and (2) to add by proper copyright processes, this protection to the authors of dramatic and dramatic works. The bill imposes a fine of $100 for the first, and $50 for each subsequent unauthorized production.

A bill to prohibit the sale of liquor in the capitol building was also passed. A bill advocated by the delegates from the territories to modify the law forbidding the alien ownership of lands in the territories, so as to give them the right to acquire under mortgage and to hold for 10 years real property, was defeated.

An important bill to transfer the rights of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad under its charter to the mortgages when they reorganize the road, was postponed until Tuesday next.

CABINET OFFICERS.

Bill Requiring Their Selection From Members of the House and Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Representative Barrett of Massachusetts has introduced a bill providing that members of the president's cabinet shall be chosen from either the senate or house of representatives, with the restriction that the secretary of the treasury shall be chosen from the house of representatives and the secretary of state from the senate. They are to retain their seats in congress and lose their portfolio when the term to which they are elected expires. Only the salary of a cabinet officer is to be drawn by such official.

A member of congress who passes from one house to the other will retain his position in the cabinet. They are to be confirmed in the manner now provided by law. No time is fixed when it shall go into effect.

DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE.

No Party Restriction Will Be Enforced Against the Dingley Bill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The comparative early adjournment of the senate yesterday was taken advantage of by some of the Democratic leaders of that body to hold a meeting for the exchange of views on the policy to be pursued in the senate by the party during the present session.

It was announced as a result of the conference that the Democrats had nothing in view so far as party was concerned. As to taking up the Dingley bill no caucus or party restrictions will be urged upon senators to vote against its consideration; and Democratic senators will vote as they individually may determine. It was generally understood that party lines would not be drawn tightly during the present session, and that the efforts of the Republicans would not be resisted.

WANTS A NEW ELECTION LAW.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Representative Gibson of Tennessee yesterday introduced a bill defining election frauds in the election of representatives and delegates. An officer convicted of any of the crimes enumerated shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years or both. The offenses include a dishonest count, omitting names from tickets, preventing a voter from casting a ballot for the candidate of his choice, dishonest registration, printing the name of candidate in various ways on different tickets and false returns.

TARIFF BILL.

Committee Will Prepare One For the Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The ways and means committee of the house will begin work before the holiday recess of congress upon the tariff bill, which is to be the chief feature in the policy of the incoming administration, and will endeavor to perfect the bill so that it may be presented to the house of the 55th congress early in the special session which President McKinley will summon for revising the tariff laws. This programme was formally decided last night by a conference of the Republican members of the committee held in General Grosvenor's rooms at the Cochran hotel.

RAITIED THE AGREEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The senate in executive session yesterday ratified the agreement made between Secretary Olney and Minister Romero of Mexico, extending for a year the provisions of the treaty between the United States and Mexico for a survey and relocation of the international boundary line west of the Rio Grande river.

MACOE'S PHYSICIAN.

He Confirms the Death of the Famous Cuban General.

HAVANA, Dec. 11.—Dr. Maximo Zertucha, who was formerly General Macoe's physician, has surrendered to Colonel Tort at San Felipe and confirms the reports of the patriot leader's death, which occurred at 2 p. m. on Dec. 7, in the engagement between the patriots under Macoe and the Spanish troops under Major Cirujeda.

Macoe received one bullet, which penetrated his head, breaking his jaw and passed out at the union of the neck and the shoulder, and was also wounded by another shot, which struck him in the stomach.

Another dispatch says: "Dr. Maximo Zertucha, said to be Macoe's personal physician, and who was previously reported to have surrendered to the Spanish authorities and to have confirmed the announcement that Macoe was killed on Dec. 7, has been liberated and is now at Melena del Sur with his family."

TRUTH WILL SOON BE KNOWN.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 11.—Every effort is being made to get news from Macoe's army, and within 24 hours the truth will be known. Men who have gone outside the city of Havana in search of information have been turned back with threats. No news has been received from any section of the Pinar del Rio country.

PURITAN IN COMMISSION.

Thirty-Two Years Since Her Keel Was Laid—A Superior Vessel.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—One more formidable addition to the navy of the United States was made yesterday when the monitor ram Puritan was formally put in commission at the Brooklyn navy yard. It is 32 years since the keel of the Puritan was laid and four years since she was launched. Now that she is ready for service she is regarded as, (for defensive purposes), superior to navy vessels of the first class, while for offensive warfare she is a little inferior to first class crafts. She is 300 feet long and 60 feet wide and has a displacement of 6,200 tons.

Her equipment consists of four 12-inch rifles in barbette, 6.8 inch rapid firing cannons, 6.6 pounds; and two revolving cannons.

Arguing the Corporation Tax Laws.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Argument was begun yesterday in the supreme court in a number of cases involving the validity of the state laws of Indiana and Ohio imposing a general corporation tax upon the express companies of those states. The argument for the companies in opposition to the law was begun by ex-Solicitor General Maxwell. The hearing in these cases will be followed by the hearing in Kentucky cases involving practically the same points.

Paper Pool Formed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The conferences that have been in progress for 10 days between the principal manufacturers of white newspaper have resulted in a practical agreement of all concerned to pool interests and to deal with consumers only through a general agency, which is to be established in this city. The plan involves the formation of a national association, capitalized at a modest amount, which is to control the product of all the mills.

National Indian Association.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Reports of state branches occupied the greater portion of the time at the opening session yesterday of the convention of the Woman's National Indian association. The reports were generally of an encouraging nature, showing improvement in the moral and material conditions of the Indians of the several tribes among which the association has missions.

QUEEN LILUOKALANI

Her Unexpected Arrival at San Francisco Creates Surprise.

REFUSES TO BE INTERVIEWED.

It Is Said She Is Here to Visit President Cleveland, and Will Represent to Him That the People of the Hawaiian Island Are Tired of the Republic—Recently Pardoned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.—Ex-Queen Liliuokalani's unexpected arrival here yesterday has evoked much interest and gave rise to no little speculation as to the object of her trip. Her only attendants were a man and a woman servant, and even her San Francisco agent and former chamberlain, Colonel George MacFarlane, did not know of the ex-queen's arrival until he received a summons from her on the arrival of the steamer.

Liliuokalani declines to be interviewed and will give no information regarding the length of her visit here nor her future plans. Her fellow passengers on the steamer gathered the idea that she will go to Washington and call upon President Cleveland, in the hope that the United States will take some steps looking to the restoration of the Hawaiian monarchy. It is intimated by Colonel MacFarlane that the ex-queen will represent to the president that the Hawaiian republic has been a failure and that the great majority of the Hawaiian people would welcome a return to the former monarchical institutions. Liliuokalani has been under the surveillance of the Hawaiian government ever since the last native rising until a few weeks ago, when she was granted an unconditional pardon. She seems to have taken advantage of the first opportunity to leave the island.

Colonel MacFarlane said: "She has not yet made me her confidant, but from her conversation I gather that she will remain in San Francisco a week. She will certainly visit Washington, and possibly London. It is certain that her trip is made in the interests of herself and her people. What that business may be I do not know positively. It certainly has nothing to do with the annexation proposition, which she naturally opposes. In a few days, the queen tells me, she will make a statement of her plans to the public."

REMARKABLE CASE.

Man Who Was Shot and Cut to Pieces Lives Twelve Days.

ATLANTA, Dec. 11.—One of the most remarkable cases on record in the medical annals of Georgia is reported from Augusta. John Buzzard was shot and stabbed by a man named Henderson and his sons at Saluda, Nov. 28. He had 37 bullet holes in his body; had received eight knife cuts and his skull was fractured from blows inflicted by rocks. He was reported dead, and great was the surprise when he showed signs of life. More remarkable still, Buzzard's condition began to improve and his physicians began to entertain hopes of his recovery. Monday morning the wounded man seemed to be well on the road to recovery and called for breakfast, which he ate with hearty enjoyment. By this time it was confidently believed that he would certainly survive his many wounds, but last Wednesday night he became suddenly worse and died.

QUICK WORK.

Negro Tried, Convicted and Sentenced to Death in One Hour.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 11.—Sankey Cunningham, a negro charged with criminal assault on Miss Camp, a young white woman, in this city Dec. 3, reached here yesterday from Macon, where he had been for safekeeping. He came on a special train under escort of Macon military. The courthouse entrances were guarded by troops. The case was called at 9:40 o'clock and within 20 minutes a jury had been empaneled. The evidence closed at a quarter past 10 o'clock and the judge charged the jury.

WOODENWARE FACTORY BURNED.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 11.—The Baldwin woodenware factory burned yesterday. The firm made a specialty of tubs, chairs, etc., and the owners estimate the loss at $80,000; insurance, $5,000. The company will rebuild.

TRI-STATE NOTES.

The large potato barn of Thomas Norris at Wrightsville, O., was burned and 1,800 bushels of sweet potatoes roasted.

Rachel Ann Woods, a wealthy pioneer of Terre Haute, Ind., is dead. She occupied rooms at the Terre Haute House for 25 years.

A stranger, in attempting to board the Knickerbocker train at Union City, Ind., had both arms cut off and was otherwise injured.

Harley Stockstill, aged 14, at Maplewood, O., blew his head off with a shotgun because his parents would not let him go visiting.

Oscar Heidelberg, the ex-convict who made charges against the management of the prison south, is under arrest at Richmond, Ind., for vagrancy.

Illinois State Grange wants J. H. Bingham of Ohio, master of the national grange, appointed secretary of agriculture in McKinley's cabinet.

E. G. Overbeck and G. E. Shaw of Barton, O., are endeavoring to interest the business men of Columbus, Ind., in a factory to manufacture wood fiber collins.

As the result of factional differences in Henry county another Republican paper is planned to be started at Newcastile, Ind. It will be called the Newcastle Tribune.

Sergeant Charles E. LaRue of the Anderson (Ind.) police force, who shot Cory Coburn while the latter was resisting arrest, is being sued by Coburn for $1,000 damages.

W. C. Carter, 80 years of age, is dead at Jacksonville, Ill. He was a trustee of Illinois college and it is said many a young man owes his education to Mr. Carter's generosity.

The commissioners of Wells county are being severely criticised for granting a pool privilege to a saloonkeeper at Bluffton, Ind. It is said that they allow the saloons to run wide open.

Senator Allison.
DUBUQUE, Ia., Dec. 11.—Senator Allison was too ill to be seen last night, but an authoritative denial is made of the story circulated that he had been chosen for secretary of state.

Treasury Statement.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Yesterday's treasury statement: Available cash balance, $225,796,442; gold reserve, $138,996,990.

Fifteen minutes later they returned a verdict of guilty without recommendation, and Judge Spence sentenced Cunningham to hang Jan. 1, 1897. It was the quickest trial on record in the state having occupied one hour from opening to close.

Rockefeller Secures Valuable Property.
WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 11.—The decree of foreclosure in the case of the Central Trust company of New York, against the West Superior Iron and Steel company was granted by Judge Vining yesterday, allowing the Rockefellers to take possession under their trust deed of $1,600,000. The Central Trust company holds mortgages on the plant for $1,800,000.

Shot Himself.
BEDFORD, Dec. 11.—"Joe" Brown, about 20 years old, of this city, shot himself with a double-barreled shotgun at his home late last night, the lead entering below the lower jaw. Whether accidental or premeditated cannot be affirmed, no other person being present when the shot was fired. His mind had been unbalanced for several months.

Seeking a Coaling Station.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 11.—The steamer Pacheco, which arrived from Lower California yesterday, brings news that it is currently reported at Guaymas and Mazatlan that the British are taking steps to establish a coaling station at Clarion island, off the coast of Jalisco.

Himetallie League.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—A meeting of the executive committee of the bimetallic league has been called by President A. J. Warner to be held in this city on the 15th.

OHIO TORRENS LAW.
Its Constitutionality to Be Tested in the United States Supreme Court.
CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—The supreme court of Ohio some time ago decided that national bank stock was not a credit against indebtedness in tax assessment. This conflict, it is believed, with a decision of the United States court. It has been decided to carry the case in which the Ohio decision was given to the United States supreme court for a more direct final ruling on the subject.

Another point which the United States supreme court will be asked to decide is the constitutionality of the Torrens, or Australian, land law now in force in Ohio. It is objected to by nearly all the state and county officers and the secretary of state will start the ball rolling with a friendly lawsuit.

Gas and Oil Gusher.
FINDLAY, O., Dec. 11.—An oil and gas well was drilled in yesterday on a farm near this city, which promises to be one of the greatest in the Ohio field. It has an estimated capacity of 15,000 cubic feet of gas a day and 50 barrels of oil an hour. The noise made by the escaping gas could be heard four miles. It took the entire day to get the well under control.

Joint Penitentiary Report.
JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 11.—The penitentiary commissioners and Warden R. L. Allen have signed their biennial report to the governor to be presented to the next legislature. It is a long document and one of the most important reports sent from the Joliet penitentiary.

Woodenware Factory Burned.
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Dec. 11.—The Baldwin woodenware factory burned yesterday. The firm made a specialty of tubs, chairs, etc., and the owners estimate the loss at $80,000; insurance, $5,000. The company will rebuild.

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before prompt efforts, scientific efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the only remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs from which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be recommended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

SHIP SALIER LOST.

Passengers and Crew Numbering Three Hundred and Sixty-Five Perish.

VIGO, Spain, Dec. 11.—The Italian steamer Salier, carrying 210 passengers, was wrecked on the Corrobedo rocks, situated off the southwest coast of Corunna. The ship carried a crew of 65 men, and they and the passengers all perished. The Salier's passengers consisted of 113 Russians, 35 Galicians, 61 Spaniards and one German. The Salier was bound from Bremen to Buenos Ayres, via Corunna and Villagarcia. The passengers were mostly in the steerage.

WINDGLASS COMBINE.

Meeting Held in Chicago Yesterday.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—The executive committee representing the Pittsburgh and Western Window Glass companies, were both in session at the Auditorium annex yesterday. After settling some of the details of the late organization at Indianapolis, the committee took up the matter of rebates and it was left to a special committee to report in Columbus, O., Dec. 17. Before adjournment the committee entered into an agreement not to sell more than a 30 days product from Dec. 18, which is about 500,000 boxes. They also agreed that no change would be made in present prices.

SENATOR ALLEN like other populists in the United States senate, is not trying to legislate, but his sole purpose seems to be to stand in the way of legislation.

COMPULSORY education is being agitated in this state. Mr. T. J. Charlton, superintendent of the reform school at Plainfield, delivered an address at Indianapolis recently, in which he advocated a compulsory education law. He thinks a law of that kind should be passed by the legislature this winter.

COIN HARVEST's withdrawal of his gold from the banks did nothing more than show that his business judgment did not sustain the free silver principles which he was loudly proclaiming. The people were not fooled by his talk and he can now put back his gold. The people have decided on a policy that will keep the purchasing power of the silver and paper dollar equal to that of the gold dollar all over the land.

THROUGHOUT the country there seems to be a demand for more stringent immigration laws. The vicious and dangerous classes from other countries are not wanted in this country. They are of no benefit to our people or to our institutions, therefore something should be done to keep these classes out. The bill prepared by Senator Lodge is said to meet the demands so much better than the present laws that it will likely be passed. It provides that all foreigners over fourteen years of age coming to the United States for residence must be able to read and write.

THE Japanese are entering on a policy of foreign conquest. The result of their war with China has filled them with the desire to conquer other lands. Just now they are casting their eyes on the Philippines which are in revolt against Spain. They desire to take hold of the islands as soon as Spain shall let go. The fact is generally known that of the 70,000 inhabitants of these islands 20,000 are Japanese. Colonization is being encouraged with the hope that a revolt may result in Japan gaining control of the islands. The Japanese have been characterized as the Yankees of Asian thrift with the John Bull greed for empire.

ALL talk of a compromise between Cuba and Spain is futile. The war has wrought the feeling on both sides up to such a pitch that neither side will be inclined to yield. The Spanish will be satisfied with nothing but the complete subjugation of the island and the Cubans will be satisfied with nothing but complete freedom from Spanish control. They have learned long ago that they cannot trust the Dons to carry out their agreements. They have lived so near the United States for so long that they have learned the value of the freedom which we enjoy and which they are struggling to obtain for themselves. American sympathy has been with the Cubans all along in their struggle and no one would rejoice more in their success than our own people.

It may not be just the time for the United States to act in the Cuban matter. Yet the liberty loving people of this country must sympathize with the struggling Cubans. Mere sympathy does not satisfy most of our people. They are inclined to think this country should interfere with Spain's tyranny and oppression. Just why the Cubans should remain the subjects of Spain and be treated worse than slaves is not clear to most people. For two years war has been in progress on the island. The Spaniards have been unable to establish peace and the insurgents have been unable to gain their independence. The war should come to an end right speedily, and the influence of the United States can be very great in that direction.

Eighty Years Old.

Eighty years ago to-day a new commonwealth was admitted to the Union and christened Indiana. It was then in the heart of the far west, in a large measure an untamed wilderness where the track of the red man was yet seen by the early pioneers. But a change has come over the face of the land. No longer in the far west it is now east of the centre. No longer a vast stretch of woods and prairie it has been transformed into a land of smiling villages and fertile farms. Railroads have covered it with a network of steel. Telegraph and telephone lines—things undreamed of on its natal day—now stretch in every direction. Large cities, the centres of great commercial interests have sprung up. Natural gas has brought great manufacturing plants to the state. And to-day the infant of eighty years ago is recognized as one of the leading states in the material progress of the great country.

Nor has her progress been altogether in material lines. Indiana authors have gained recognition throughout the country. We have our Lew Wallace, noted in fiction, our James Whitcomb Riley, who has made the Hoosier dialect familiar throughout the world, and a score of others of less prominence who might be mentioned. Indiana statesmen have brought credit to their native state. In recent years Morton, Hendricks, Thompson and Harrison stand out in strong relief with a host of lesser lights in the background. Our common school system ranks among the best in the world and our colleges turn out men who rank high in professional and business life. Indiana ranks among the stars of the first magnitude in the constellation of the Union and her citizens are proud of the name of Hoosier whether they claim it by birth or by adoption.

VENEZUELA.

Said the Government Will Withdraw Its Consent to the Olney Settlement.
CARACAS, Dec. 11.—Senor Aldridge, Venezuelan minister to the United States, who was to leave for Washington at once with the cabinet's approval of the Guayana boundary agreement, has been delayed. It is said Venezuela will withhold her consent to the arrangement entered into between Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury for the settlement of the dispute.

BIMETALLIC LEAGUE.

Every District in the State Represented at the Meeting Yesterday.
INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 11.—The meeting of the Bimetallic league yesterday at the Grand hotel was attended by representatives from every district in the state. President Allen W. Clarke presided, and spoke, in calling the committee to order, in part as follows: "The object of this meeting can be briefly stated. This is in no sense a 'meeting of survivors' to indulge in reminiscences of a disastrous defeat, or even more unprofitably, to bandy criminalities and recriminations. Instead, we are here as men, earnestly, conscientiously, and, we believe, intelligently, imbued with the belief that in the restoration of bimetallicism lives the present sole hope of a return of permanent national prosperity, and that the recent temporary defeat is but and incident in the battle of the standards now being waged the world over."

After listening to letters from B. F. Shively and National Chairman Jones, and speeches by Dr. H. V. Passage, Chairman Martin, Dr. J. F. Van Vorhis and John W. Kern, the league decided to push the work of organization and education along the line laid down in the campaign and that there would be no fusion with gold Democrats. It was further decided to celebrate on Jan. 8 and to invite those who voted for Bryan and all those who wish they had. Mr. Clark was re-elected.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expectorating all the time. The remedy cured me, and I want all my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do me good." Sold by C. W. Milhous.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. THE BLUES.

A Graphic Description of the Dreadful Feeling.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:—

She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back ached; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling.

Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon." But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake. She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs. Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.

FOUGHT LIKE A TIGER

Tramp Attacks Trainmen With a Knife and Seriously Cuts the Engineer.

SWEAT BLOOD FOR TWO WEEKS.

First Indiana Woman to Be Admitted to the Berlin University—Woodenware Factory Burned—Noted Horse Thief Sentenced—Accidentally Shot His Brother.

SOERENT, Ills., Dec. 11.—A pitched battle occurred here between the firemen and the engineer of a through freight on the Clover Leaf line, and B. I. Clements, a tramp, who was stealing a ride from Charleston. Clements was put off here by the trainmen, and in doing so he attacked Fireman Cook and the engineer with a knife, seriously wounding both. He was after much effort captured by the city marshal and a posse of citizens, but before submitting to arrest he cut the city marshal on the head and back, then plunged the knife into his own body near the region of his heart. He was turned over to Sheriff McAllister, who, in attempting to place him in a cell, was attacked by the prisoner. Deputy Sheriff Wright and a squad of citizens finally subdued him. A physician was summoned to dress his self-inflicted wounds, but he fought desperately. He was finally bound and his wounds dressed. The prisoner fears lynching and threatens self-destruction. It is thought the engineer cannot recover from his wounds.

MRS. J. H. HOMAN.

The Only Indiana Woman Ever Admitted to the University of Berlin.

LAPORTE, Ind., Dec. 11.—Mrs. J. H. Homan, nee Miss McMahon of Rensselaer, enjoys the distinction of being the only Indiana woman admitted to the University of Berlin. Many women who have gone there from foreign countries for the purpose of studying have failed to gain admission. The requirements for admission there are the strictest in Europe. That institution has excluded women from its walls for over 100 years, and now, although it is possible for a woman to gain admission, the requirements are such as to frighten a timid woman from making the attempt.

KILLED BY A TRAMP.

Indiana Brakeman Shot by a Man Stealing a Ride.

BUCHYRUS, O., Dec. 11.—The southern part of this county is aroused and armed forces of men are scouring the country in search of an unknown tramp who yesterday killed a brakeman on the Chicago and Erie. The tramp was stealing a ride and at Galion was ordered off the train by Brakeman Schogole of Huntington, Ind. The tramp pulled out a revolver and shot the brakeman, who fell dead on top of the car. Bloodhounds have been secured to trail him and he will probably be lynched if caught.

Sweet Blood For Two Weeks.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Dec. 11.—Frank Lawrence, a young man of this county, is dead, from a peculiar disease. For two weeks he had sweat blood from the pores of his skin. Blood oozed from all over his body, and also from the mucous lining of his mouth. Blotches of blood appeared under the surface of the skin, and the slightest abrasion would cause endless bleeding. The doctors are puzzled over the case. Lawrence had previously been an exceptionally healthy man.

Terrible Death.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Eliza Leming, wife of M. C. Leming, is dead of cerebro spinal meningitis, or "spotted fever." In the first stages Mrs. Leming experienced a stiffening of her spinal column, which eventually became rigid. Then her head was drawn back by the contraction of muscles in the neck, her tongue lost power of articulation, her sight failed and her hearing departed.

Dead From Poison.

WATERLOO, Ind., Dec. 11.—Thomas Chandler, an old soldier who is totally blind, died yesterday from an overdose of poison, taken some days ago. Chandler was defendant in a suit wherein E. F. Sherwood asks $5,000 damages for alienating his (Sherwood's) wife's affections. The wife in question is the niece of Chandler, who has thus ended the suit.

Accidentally Shot His Brother.

EFFINGHAM, Ills., Dec. 11.—William Tinsae, aged 19, accidentally shot and killed his brother Leonard with a shotgun. He had placed a cap upon the nipple of the gun, and pointed it at the door. Just as he pulled the trigger his brother stepped in and received the load in his heart.

Arrested on Suspicion.

AURORA, Ind., Dec. 11.—The police have arrested two young men under suspicion of murderously assaulting Mr. and Mrs. Simon Pater, the old couple who were found unconscious in their country home near Sunman a few days ago.

Instantly Killed.

LEBANON, Ind., Dec. 11.—Miss Isabella Pitzer, 28 years old, and a member of one of the best known families of Eagle township, was struck by a Big Four west-bound passenger train at Zionsville and instantly killed.

Robbed the Ticket Office.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Dec. 11.—A thief affected an entrance into the Chicago Hamilton and Dayton railway depot during the absence of Ticket Salesman Dale, and stole $28.55.

Sale of Woolen Mills.

MADISON, Ind., Dec. 11.—John B. Ross of this city yesterday purchased the Louisville and Madison woolenmill for $27,500, and will operate it. The original cost was $120,000.

Weekly The Monthly

Outlook,

Published every Saturday.

13 Astor Place New York

The Outlook will be in 1897, as it has been during each of its twenty-seven years, a history of Our Own Times. In its various editorial departments, The Outlook gives a compact review of the world's progress; it follows with care all the important philanthropic and industrial movements of the day; has a complete department of religious news; devotes much space to the interests of the home; reviews current literature; furnishes cheerful table-talk about men and things; and, in short, aims to give fresh information, original observation, and reasonable entertainment.

Beginning with the fifty-fifth volume, the paper will assume the regular magazine size, which will add greatly to its convenience and attractiveness. The Outlook is published every Saturday—fifty-two issues a year. The first issue in each month is an illustrated magazine number, containing about twice as many pages as the ordinary issues, together with a large number of pictures.

The price of The Outlook is three dollars a year in advance, or less than a cent a day.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
Monthly Illustrated
Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review or Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Sick Headache.

Neuralgia and Extreme Nervousness.

EVER since I was eighteen years old until I learned of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, I suffered from sick headache and extreme nervousness and dyspepsia. In time time disease developed. I was treated by several doctors with no relief. Severe palpitation with pain in left breast, shortness of breath, and smothering spells made me most miserable. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure and took them alternately as directed. Improvement began at once and increased so rapidly that inside of six months I increased thirty six pounds in weight. All pain in the heart is gone, and the nervousness has wholly left me."

NEWSPAPER MEN.

Southern Indiana Press Association Met
at Indianapolis Yesterday.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Southern Indiana Press Association
was held at Indianapolis yesterday.
The attendance was not large but as large as was expected. Matters of interest to the newspaper men were discussed at some length. A legislative committee consisting of S. E. Haigh, of
the Columbus Republican, E. A. Remy,
of the Seymour Republican, and H. J.
Martin, of the Franklin Republican,
were appointed to meet with like committees from the other editorial association of the state Dec. 28.

A. J. Dipboye, of the Columbus Herald, and Josiah Gwin, of the New Albany Press, were appointed a committee to formulate plans whereby the association can act in conjunction in the purchase of supplies.

The following officers were elected:
President—A. S. Chapman Madison
Democrat.

Vice President—First congressional district, Ernest W. Wilkom, Evansville
Post; Second district, S. B. Boy d,
Washington Democrat; Third, Josiah
Gwin, New Albany Public Press;
Fourth, John Forsythe, Seymour Democrat; Fifth, George W. Allen, Terre Haute Express; Sixth, John F. Moses,
Rushville Republican; Seventh, H. J.
Martin, Franklin Republican; Eighth,
to be filled.

Recording Secretary—J. W. Cockrum,
Oakland City Journal.

Financial Secretary—E. A. Remy,
Seymour Republican.

Treasurer—Jasper Packard, New Albany Tribune.

Additional delegate to National Editorial Association—John Chewing,
Rockport Journal.

Executive Committee—The president
secretaries and treasurer.

The time and place of the next meeting will be selected by the executive committee.

An Old Relic.

Miss Lura Brown has received from her sister, Mrs. Frank Clark, at Washington a piece of wood from the old Ebenezer church which was built in 1808 in the Bethel chapel neighborhood which is now a part of the city of Washington. Ebenezer church was the first M. E. church built in Indiana and the ladies took advantage of this fact to give a historical social at which they gave as souvenirs pieces of wood
from the old church.

Condition Critical.

John McDonald is lying in a critical condition with blood poisoning. He received a small scratch in the hand causing inflammation to set in and the trouble has gone to the body and moving down the extremities. This will be surprising news to our people. Mr.
McDonald is too good and useful a man to be seriously afflicted.

Shot Himself in the Jaw.

Joseph Browning, of Bedford, shot himself in the jaw with a double-barrel shotgun last night. Whether it was by accident or was premeditated is not known, there being no one present at the time. Recently he had been taken from the insane asylum at Indianapolis,
where he spent some time. Physicians managed to check the hemorrhage after some difficulty, and he may recover.

Heavy Corn Yield

John B. McCasland, after a stay of a year in Attwood, Ill., returned home last evening. He reports the land about Attwood as very fine and productive. The corn crop there is simply immense and the best price received for it is fifteen cents a bushel.

Happy Surprise

"The Man in the Iron Mask" which will be presented at the Opera House
Wed., December 16, by Donald Robertson, Miss Brandon Douglas and company is deserving of liberal patronage.
The costumes are elegant and vividly represent the beauty and luxury of the French court in the heyday of Bourbon
monarchy during the seventeenth century. Donald Robertson assumes the dual role of King Louis XIV and his
twin brother, Gaston, "The Man in the Iron Mask," and performs the difficult feat of clearly differentiating them with marked ability. Miss Douglas appears as Marie D'Oranges, the devoted woman who defies the court and its depraved officials, and despite the threats of royal power clings to Gaston. He is finally cast into a dungeon and compelled to wear an iron mask. Marie enters a convent and after years of inquiry into the fate of her lover finds
him in prison with the heavy metal pressing into his brain.

The big holiday stock has come, the elegant presents are now on exhibition.
Shrewd buyers are getting the first

Twice-a-Week Courier-Journal.

Beginning the first of the new year,
the Weekly Courier-Journal, of Loui-
ville, Ky., will be changed to the Twice-a-week Courier-Journal. It will be published Wednesday and Saturday mornings. The paper will be six pages, or twelve pages a week, instead of ten pages weekly, as at present, an increase of 832 columns of matter during the year. The Wednesday issue will be devoted exclusively to news and politics,
while the Saturday issue will be strictly
a family paper—filled with stories, miscellany, pictures, poetry, sketches, etc.
The politics of the paper will not be changed, and the battle for pure democracy and true democracy principles will be continued successfully in the future
as in the past. In spite of the expense involved in the improvements noted
the price of the Twice-a-week Courier-
Journal will remain the same, one dollar a year, with liberal inducements to agents or old subscribers who send in new ones. A feature during the coming year will be the editorials of Mr.

John R. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean.

The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

FREAK FACTORIES.

Showmen Have No Trouble In Providing New Attractions.

"How do you manage to find new freaks and curiosities?" was the question asked of the manager of a traveling show that had pitched its tent in a London suburb.

"Don't have to find them," was the laconic response. "They find us. The freak business is as regularly established as any other and has its wholesale and retail firms, traveling salesmen, brokers, price lists, factories."

"Factories?" queried the reporter, aghast.

"Why, certainly, factories, of course. The freak business is divided into about three varieties—foreign, domestic and fake."

"In the first class the collectors travel all over the world in search of rarities, but the very best freaks come from India and the Malay peninsula. In these countries there are people who breed freaks. They buy young children and animals and deform them while their bones are soft by all manners of means. Then they are constantly on the outlook for genuine natural freaks, and in those lands the birth of a freak occurs very frequently. The headquarters of this business is at Singapore."

"Then there are any number of men who devote themselves to the discovering and placing of freaks of all kinds and varieties, and there is scarcely a day goes by that we do not receive packages of photographs and illustrated circulars from some freak merchant or other."

"Of course there are the faked freak men—a perfect host in themselves. If the proprietor of some little show needs an additional attraction and does not have the money to hire something good—for, like everything else, freaks have their price—he can get something for little money that will serve his purpose."

"The real, genuine live freaks always command a high price and travel all over the world in order to exhibit themselves. Most of them have regular routes mapped out by their advance agents, just like theatrical companies, and as they only appear at a place at long intervals they never get stale, and sometimes make bigger hits on their second or third appearance than on their first."

—London Mail.

AN AMUSING DEBATE.

The Subject Was Serious Enough, but the Situation Was Comical.

When, in the old days of trouble between the English and French, there was talk of sending Admiral Hawke to sea to keep watch over the enemy's fleet, there occurred a notable interview. It was November. The weather was stormy and dangerous for vessels and the government was not agreed as to sending them out.

Mr. Pitt, who was in bed with gout, was obliged to receive those who had business with him in his chamber. This room had two beds and no fire. The Duke of Newcastle came to him to consider the sending out of the fleet, and had scarcely entered the room when he cried out, shivering all over with cold: "How is this? No fire?"

"No," said Mr. Pitt. "When I have the gout, I cannot bear one."

The duke, wrapped in his cloak, took a seat by the invalid's bedside and began talking, but he found himself unable to endure the cold.

"Pray allow me!" he exclaimed suddenly, and without taking off his cloak, he buried himself in the other bed and continued the conversation. He was strongly opposed to risking the fleet in the November gales. Mr. Pitt was absolutely resolved that it should put to sea, and both argued the matter with much warmth. It was the only warmth, indeed, in the room.

"I am positively determined that the fleet shall sail," said Pitt, accompanying his words with the most lively gesticulations.

"It is impossible! It will perish!" said the duke, with equal emphasis.

At the moment the discussion waxed hottest another dignitary of the realm came in and found it difficult to keep his countenance at the sight of two ministers deliberating on a matter of so grave importance from such a novel situation.

The fleet did put to sea, and Mr. Pitt's judgment proved to be right. The enemy was crippled and a signal advantage gained.—Youth's Companion.

All About Love.

"Say, I'm in love," confided the fard dealer to the lookout during a lull in the play.

"Why, you don't know what love is," laughed the lookout.

"Don't you believe it," retorted the dealer. "Love is a game that Cupid deals. He has a crooked layout, and the bank wins every bet. If you copper a case in his game it's sure to win; if you play in his game it loses, and you're in big luck if you don't get whipsawed in every turn. If a man calls the turn it's a 1 to 10 shot he drops dead."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

ADOBE BUILDINGS.

SIMPLE ARCHITECTURE OF MUD HOUSES IN NEW MEXICO.

How the Bricks Are Made—They Have Strawn In Them and Are Sun Dried. Dwellings Made In This Way Are Very Durable—A Favorable Climate.

Architectural engineering is a branch of the gentle art of making mud pies in the land where the adobe houses grow. In the land of sunshine, where a rainy day is so rare that it is marked with a red cross, the native contractor and builder wastes no time figuring on the strength of material, the crushing limit of tubular columns and the wind pressure per square foot of elevation. He does not pore over blue prints of plans, cross sections and elevations, nor does he whittle down his figures to the finest point so as to come under some other contractor's bid. He simply rolls his trousers up above his knees, digs down in a favored ditch or pond until he strikes the "dobe mud," and in a short time he is ready to begin constructive operations.

Adobe houses are brick houses, but the brick is sun dried and made with straw. The clay or mud of which the brick is made is a natural cement peculiar to the arid plains of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and that belt of states and territories. It is turned out in the most primitive manner, and the Blue Island brickmaker who might happen upon a half brood or Mexican 'dobe brickmaker would view the operation with amusement or disgust. Kiln burned brick, made of blue clay, however, would not meet the requirements imposed by the climatic conditions of those countries where adobe brick is used.

In summer an adobe house is cool; in winter it is warm. Its thick walls absorb the occasional rain, and, although the sun dried brick is soft compared to the kiln dried article, it does not crumble, and it stands for ages.

A man who recently traveled through New Mexico was much interested in the 'dobe houses. For weeks he inquired and searched for a 'dobe house in the hands of the builders. At length in Santa Fe he stumbled upon a couple of men stamping with their bare feet upon clay in a wooden frame. He inquired and found that he was looking upon two Mexicans making adobe brick. In describing the process he said:

"The men actually dug up the 'dobe mud from the bottom of the ditch which skirted the road. They mixed it, or, as we say, 'tempered' it with water until it was of a stiff, clayey consistency. Then they chopped alfalfa hay into short pieces and mixed it with the clay, and their material was ready to make into brick. A wood frame lay on the ground. This frame was filled with the 'dobe mud mixed with hay, and one of the men got into the frame and stamped the mud down with his bare feet, at the same time tamping it with a stick. After the frame was packed hard he scraped the surplus mud off with a stick, so that the top surface was level with the upper edges of the frame, and then lifting the frame from the clay he carried the brick to one side of the road and stood it on its edge. The next brick he made he leaned against the first one, and soon he had a dozen large bricks—each twice as wide and long and thick as an ordinary brick—drying in the sun. One of the men told me that the bricks would be ready to lay in three or four days, and that they used the mud which the bricks are made of for the plaster."

"The walls of an adobe house are very thick, sometimes two or three feet, and in the ordinary one story adobe house, which is characteristic of that region, they are built up perfectly plain until they reach the roof. The roof is supported on wooden beams, laid edgewise on the walls, and the bricks are built up level with the top of the beams between the timbers, leaving the edge of the rafters exposed. The roof has a slight slant, and is made of adobe bricks. When it rains, the water soaks into the roof bricks, but does not begin to drip down into the rooms below until the rain is over. Then the family moves out until the water is through with its dripping. I saw an adobe house in Santa Fe which was built in the sixteenth century, and so far as I could see, the walls were as strong and good as any house around there."

"Walls are built of stone, plastered with adobe cement, if I may so call it, and such walls are strong and solid. I suppose if that country had half as much rain as falls in Chicago the 'dobe houses would after a time crumble away, but the average year in New Mexico is made up of 187 days of unclouded sky, 189 days when sunshine predominates and only 39 days of cloud, so that the rainfall does not amount to much more than a good sized fall of dew."

It is estimated that an adobe house costs about $100 a room, but there are mansions built of this material which cost not less than $30,000 to construct. When the "Americans" settled in New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and the lower part of California they accepted the treeless condition of the country and built their houses of 'dobe mud.—Chicago Record.

Kentucky's Names.

Kentucky is known as the Corn Cracker State, from a game bird enjoying the same name which was formerly found in great abundance in most parts of the state. It is also called the Blue Grass State, from the belt of land running through the center in which this variety of grass grows to great perfection. In the early days of our history it was known as the Dark and Bloody Ground, being so termed by the Indians. It was then a debatable land between the Indians living north of the Ohio and those living in the mountains of Tennessee and Georgia, a sort of battleground for these tribes, which fact gave it the name long before it was settled by the whites.

LOVE IN THE CIRCUS.

TWO ROMANCES WHICH TERMINATED ON THE TRAPEZE.

How Sam Myers Proposed and Was Accepted by His Annie—The Tragedy Which Grew Out of the Love of the Howland Brothers For Jennie Dunbar.

"Ah!"

"Oh!"

All the spectators of the giant leap for life in the circus tent held their breaths with terror while the lithe acrobat plunged forward, released his hold and shot through space, to be securely caught in the firm grasp of his partner, who hung from his toes from another treacherous trapeze.

Twelve thousand nine hundred and ninety-eight persons caught their breaths again as the feat was accomplished. The two remaining persons of the 13,000—a big circus tent always holds 13,000 persons, you know—watched the proceedings with an air of perfect nonchalance, as if a swing for life was no more serious matter than signaling an electric car.

Well might they be calm, for they were retired circus performers, and the perils of the tents were old stories to them, and then, as the show went on, they began exchanging reminiscences, while the listening Journal man forgot all about what was before him in his interest in these yarns.

"That jump reminds me of the way Sam Myers proposed to Annie Johnson ten years ago."

The Journal man noticed that the veteran circus man omitted the "Signor" and "Ma'amse" from his conversation, so that Sam Myers and Annie Johnson did not bear in private life the names which adorned the circus programme and the particularized lithographs which inflame the circus going propensities of Young America.

"You see, Sam Myers and Pete Wilson and Annie Johnson were albinos that season and did a great act on the flying trapeze, in which Annie made ever so many jumps across the tent and was caught by Sam, while Pete was performing on a third bar way up above them. One jump after another was made all right by her, and suddenly everybody was surprised to see Sam lift Annie in the air he caught her and kiss her before she turned to make the leap back to her own trapeze. Everybody wondered what it all meant, and after the act was over they soon found out."

"It seems that Sam and Pete had both fallen in love with Annie, and just before the act Pete confided to his chum his intentions of proposing to the pretty partner. Sam made up his mind that he would not be left in a case like this, but he had no chance to speak for himself until they began."

"When Annie made her first jump, he started to pop the question, and the proposal continued with interruptions as the young lady would swing back and forth and jump to and fro in the regular custom of her performance. Finally the question was asked just as she swung. Sam, hanging by his toes, waited until she made the next leap and as he heard her say 'Yes' he lifted her up and kissed her with such a smack that it could be heard all over the big tent."

"That reminds me of another team which was with a circus that I was performing in a dozen years ago. The Howland brothers were doing a double trapeze act, with all sorts of daring jumps, much the same sort as the one we just saw. In the same circus the leading rider was Jennie Dunbar, who was the cleverest little woman who ever jumped through a hoop, and both the boys fell in love with her."

"She was really fond of both of them, but when they proposed she accepted Will and told Fred that she could only be a sister to him. When Fred proposed, we were performing up in Canada, and the proposal was made just before the afternoon performance. When the boys came up for their turn, we all noticed that Fred was pale and nervous, while Will was just the reverse. Their act went on just the same as usual, and finally came their last jump, which was the most daring of all. Fred hung by his toes, and Will made the swing clear across the tent. We never knew how it happened, whether Fred was so nervous that he lost his grip or whether he did it deliberately, but just as Will came flying through the air Fred trembled and dropped from the hold down into the net, while Will shot through the air and fell in the ring clear beyond the edge of the net. When they ran to him, he was dead. Jennie was almost crazy with grief, and Fred had an attack of brain fever, from which he did not recover for months."

"No one could tell whether he deliberately dropped to get rid of his rival or whether he was so sick that he could not hold himself longer. At any rate, as soon as he got well he proposed to Jennie again and was accepted. They are married now and retired from the business."—Boston Journal.

A Novel Advertising Scheme.

An ingenious German bicycle manufacturer has invented the following device as an advertising scheme: He has published a notice in the daily press, according to which he promises to give a high grade machine and a bicycling suit to any one who pays 1 cent spot cash; but, according to the agreement, the purchaser must pay for two weeks the double of the amount that had been paid the preceding day. It is but a simple problem in arithmetic to discover that at the end of two weeks the bicycle and suit will have cost something over $180.

Ingenious advertisements, as will be seen, are not confined exclusively to the United States.—Exchange.

SENATOR ALLEN like other populists in the United States senate, is not trying to legislate, but his sole purpose seems to be to stand in the way of legislation.

COMPULSORY education is being agitated in this state. Mr. T. J. Charlton, superintendent of the reform school at Plainfield, delivered an address at Indianapolis recently, in which he advocated a compulsory education law. He thinks a law of that kind should be passed by the legislature this winter.

COIN HARVEY's withdrawal of his gold from the banks did nothing more than show that his business judgement did not sustain the free silver principles which he was loudly proclaiming. The people were not fooled by his talk and he can now put back his gold. The people have decided on a policy that will keep the purchasing power of the silver and paper dollar equal to that of the gold dollar all over the land.

THROUGHOUT the country there seems to be a demand for more stringent immigration laws. The vicious and dangerous classes from other countries are not wanted in this country. They are of no benefit to our people or to our institutions, therefore something should be done to keep these classes out. The bill prepared by Senator Lodge is said to meet the demands so much better than the present laws that it will likely be passed. It provides that all foreigners over fourteen years of age coming to the United States for residence must be able to read and write.

The Japanese are entering on a policy of foreign conquest. The result of their war with China has filled them with the desire to conquer other lands. Just now they are casting their eyes on the Philippines which are in revolt against Spain. They desire to take hold of the islands as soon as Spain shall let go. The fact is generally known that of the 70,000 inhabitants of these islands 20,000 are Japanese. Colonization is being encouraged with the hope that ere long a revolt may result in Japan gaining control of the islands. The Japanese have been characterized as the Yankees of Asian thrift with the John Bull greed for empire.

ALL talk of a compromise between Cuba and Spain is futile. The war has wrought the feeling on both sides up to such a pitch that neither side will be inclined to yield. The Spanish will be satisfied with nothing but the complete subjugation of the island and the Cubans will be satisfied with nothing but complete freedom from Spanish control. They have learned long ago that they cannot trust the Dons to carry out their agreements. They have lived so near the United States for so long that they have learned the value of the freedom which we enjoy and which they are struggling to obtain for themselves. American sympathy has been with the Cubans all along in their struggle and no one would rejoice more in their success than our own people.

It may not be just the time for the United States to act in the Cuban matter. Yet the liberty loving people of this country must sympathize with the struggling Cubans. Mere sympathy does not satisfy most of our people. They are inclined to think this country should interfere with Spain's tyranny and oppression. Just why the Cubans should remain the subjects of Spain and be treated worse than slaves is not clear to most people. For two years war has been in progress on the island. The Spaniards have been unable to establish peace and the insurgents have been unable to gain their independence. The war should come to an end right speedily, and the influence of the United States can be very great in that direction.

EIGHTY YEARS OLD.

Eighty years ago to-day a new commonwealth was admitted to the Union and christened Indiana. It was then in the heart of the far west, in a large measure an untamed wilderness where the track of the red man was yet seen by the early pioneers. But a change has come over the face of the land. No longer in the far west it is now east of the centre. No longer a vast stretch of woods and prairie it has been transformed into a land of smiling villages and fertile farms. Railroads have covered it with a network of steel. Telegraph and telephone lines—things undreamed of on its natal day—now stretch in every direction. Large cities, the centres of great commercial interests have sprung up. Natural gas has brought great manufacturing plants to the state. And to-day the infant of eighty years ago is recognized as one of the leading states in the material progress of the great country.

Nor has her progress been altogether in material lines. Indiana authors have gained recognition throughout the country. We have our Lew Wallace, noted in fiction, our James Whitcomb Riley, who has made the Hoosier dialect familiar throughout the world, and a score of others of less prominence who might be mentioned. Indiana statesmen have brought credit to their native state. In recent years Morton, Hendricks, Thompson and Harrison stand out in strong relief with a host of lesser lights in the background. Our common school system ranks among the best in the world and our colleges turn out men who rank high in professional and business life. Indiana ranks among the stars of the first magnitude in the constellation of the Union and her citizens are proud of the name of Hoosier whether they claim it by birth or by adoption.

VENEZUELA.

Said the Government Will Withhold Its Consent to the Olney Settlement.
CARACAS, Dec. 11.—Senator Aldridge, Venezuelan minister to the United States, who was to leave for Washington at once with the cabinet's approval of the Guiana boundary agreement, has been delayed. It is said Venezuela will withhold her consent to the arrangement entered into between Secretary Olney and Lord Salisbury for the settlement of the dispute.

BIMETALLIC LEAGUE.

Every District In the State Represented at the Meeting Yesterday.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 11.—The meeting of the Bimetallist league yesterday at the Grand hotel was attended by representatives from every district in the state. President Allen W. Clarke presided, and spoke, in calling the committee to order, in part as follows: "The object of this meeting can be briefly stated. This is in no sense a 'meeting of survivors' to indulge in reminiscences of a disastrous defeat, or, even more unprofitably, to bandy criticisms and recriminations. Instead, we are here as men, earnestly, conscientiously, and, we believe, intelligently, imbued with the belief that in the restoration of bimetallism lives the present sole hope of a return of permanent national prosperity, and that the recent temporary defeat is but and incident in the battle of the standards now being waged the world over."

After listening to letters from B. F. Shively and National Chairman Jones, and speeches by Dr. H. V. Passage, Chairman Martin, Dr. J. F. Van Vorhis and John W. Kern, the league decided to push the work of organization and education along the line laid down in the campaign and that there would be no fusion with gold Democrats. It was further decided to celebrate on Jan. 8 and to invite those who voted for Bryan and all those who wish they had. Mr. Clark was re-elected.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton, of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expecting all the time. The remedy cured me, and I want all my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do me good." Sold by C. W. Milhous.

After hearing some friends continually praising Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, Curtis Fleck, of Anaheim, California, purchased a bottle for his own use and is now as enthusiastic over its wonderful work as anyone can be. THE BLUES.

A Graphic Description of the Dreadful Feeling.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:— She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached; and back also; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling. Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake. She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs. Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.

FOUGHT LIKE A TIGER

Tramp Attacks Trainmen With a Knife and Seriously Cuts the Engineer.

SWEAT BLOOD FOR TWO WEEKS.

First Indiana Woman to Be Admitted to the Berlin University—Woodenware Factory Burned—Noted Horse Thief Sentenced—Accidentally Shot His Brother. Sale of Woolen Mills—Brevities.

SOERENT, Ills., Dec. 11.—A pitched battle occurred here between the firemen and the engineer of a through freight on the Clover Leaf line, and B. I. Clements, a tramp, who was stealing a ride from Charleston. Clements was put off here by the trainmen, and in doing so he attacked Fireman Cook and the engineer with a knife, seriously wounding both. He was after much effort captured by the city marshal and a posse of citizens, but before submitting to arrest he cut the city marshal on the head and back, and then plunged the knife into his own body near the region of his heart. He was turned over to Sheriff McAllister, who, in attempting to place him in a cell, was attacked by the prisoner. Deputy Sheriff Wright and a squad of citizens finally subdued him. A physician was summoned to dress his self-inflicted wounds, but he fought desperately. He was finally bound and his wounds dressed. The prisoner fears lynching and threatens self-destruction. It is thought the engineer cannot recover from his wounds.

MRS. J. H. HOMAN.

The Only Indiana Woman Ever Admitted to the University of Berlin.

LAPORTE, Ind., Dec. 11.—Mrs. J. H. Homan, nee Miss McMahon of Rensselaer, enjoys the distinction of being the only Indiana woman admitted to the University of Berlin. Many women who have gone there from foreign countries for the purpose of studying have failed to gain admission. The requirements for admission there are the strictest in Europe. That institution has excluded women from its walls for over 100 years, and now, although it is possible for a woman to gain admission, the requirements are such as to frighten a timid woman from making the attempt.

KILLED BY A TRAMP.

Indiana Brakeman Shot by a Man Stealing a Ride.

BUCYRUS, O., Dec. 11.—The southern part of this county is aroused and armed forces of men are scouring the country in search of an unknown tramp who yesterday killed a brakeman on the Chicago and Erie. The tramp was stealing a ride and at Galion was ordered off the train by Brakeman Schogole of Huntington, Ind. The tramp pulled out a revolver and shot the brakeman, who fell dead on top of the car. Bloodhounds have been secured to trail him and he will probably be lynched if caught.

Sweat Blood For Two Weeks.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Dec. 11.—Frank Lawrence, a young man of this county, is dead, from a peculiar disease. For two weeks he had sweat blood from the pores of his skin. Blood oozed from all over his body, and also from the mucus lining of his mouth. Blootches of blood appeared under the surface of the skin, and the slightest abrasion would cause endless bleeding. The doctors are puzzled over the case. Lawrence had previously been an exceptionally healthy man.

Terrible Death.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Dec. 11.—Mrs. Eliza Leaning, wife of M. C. Leaning, is dead of cerebro spinal meningitis, or "spotted fever." In the first stages Mrs. Leaning experienced a stiffening of her spinal column, which eventually became rigid. Then her hand was drawn back in the contraction of muscles.

the neck, her tongue lost power of articulation, her sight failed and her hearing departed.

Dead From Poison.

WATERLOO, Ind., Dec. 11.—Thomas Chandler, an old soldier who is totally blind, died yesterday by an overdose of poison, taken some days ago. Chandler was defendant in a suit wherein E. P. Sherwood asks $5,000 damages for alienating his (Sherwood's) wife's affections. The wife in question is the niece of Chandler, who has thus ended the suit.

Accidentally Shot His Brother.

EFFINGHAM, Ills., Dec. 11.—William Tinnon, aged 19, accidentally shot and killed his brother Leonard with a shotgun. He had placed a cap upon the nipple of the gun, and pointed it at the door. Just as he pulled the trigger his brother stepped in and received the load in his heart.

Arrested on Suspicion.

AURORA, Ind., Dec. 11.—The police have arrested two young men under suspicion of murderously assaulting Mr. and Mrs. Simon Pater, the old couple who were found unconscious in their country home near Sunman a few days ago.

Instantly Killed.

LEBANON, Ind., Dec. 11.—Miss Isabelle Pitzer, 38 years old, and a member of one of the best known families of Eagle township, was struck by a Big Four west-bound passenger train at Zionsville and instantly killed.

Robbed the Ticket Office.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Dec. 11.—A thief affected an entrance into the Chicago Hamilton and Dayton railway depot during the absence of Ticket Salesman Dale, and stole $28.50.

Sale of Woolen Mills.

MADISON, Ind., Dec. 11.—John B. Ross of this city yesterday purchased the Louisville and Madison woolen mill for $27,500, and will operate it. The original cost was $130,000.

Sick Headache.

Neuralgia and Extreme Nervousness.

EVER since I was eighteen years old until I learned of Dr. Miles' Restorative Remedies, I suffered from sick headache and extreme nervousness and dyspepsia. In time time disease developed. I was treated by several doctors with no relief. Severe palpitation with pain in left breast, shortness of breath, and another spells made me most miserable. I procured Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure and took them alternately as directed. Improvement began at once and increased so rapidly that inside of six months I increased thirty six pounds in weight. All pain in the heart is gone, and the nervousness has wholly left me." MRS. CHAS. KRAFF, W. German St., Little Falls, N. Y., Nov. 7, '95. Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. NEWSPAPER MEN.

Southern Indiana Press Association Met
at Indianapolis Yesterday.

The regular semi-annual meeting of
the Southern Indiana Press Association
was held at Indianapolis yesterday.
The attendance was not large but as large as was expected. Matters of interest to the newspaper men were discussed at some length. A legislative committee consisting of S. E. Haigh, of
the Columbus Republican, E. A. Remy,
of the Seymour Republican, and H. J.
Martin, of the Franklin Republican,
were appointed to meet with like committees from the other editorial association of the state Dec. 28.

A. J. Dippoye, of the Columbus Herald, and Josiah Gwin, of the New Albany Press, were appointed a committee
to formulate plans whereby the association can act in conjunction in the purchase of supplies.

The following officers were elected:
President—A. S. Chapman Madison
Democrat.

Vice President—First congressional district, Ernest W. Wilkom, Evansville
Post; Second district, S. B. Boyd,
Washington Democrat; Third, Josiah
Gwin, New Albany Public Press;
Fourth, John Forsythe, Seymour Democrat; Fifth, George W. Allen, Terre Haute Express; Sixth, John F. Moses,
Rushville Republican; Seventh, H. J.
Martin, Franklin Republican; Eighth,
to be filled.

Recording Secretary—J. W. Cockrum,
Oakland City Journal.

Financial Secretary—E. A. Remy,
Seymour Republican.

Treasurer—Jasper Packard, New Albany Tribune.

Additional delegate to National Elitorial Association—John Chewing,
Rockport Journal.

Executive Committee—The president
secretaries and treasurer.

The time and place of the next meet-
committee.

An Old Relic.

Miss Lura Brown has received from
her sister, Mrs. Frank Clark, at Washington a piece of wood from the old
Ebenezer church which was built in 1808 in the Bethel chapel neighborhood
which is now a part of the city of Washington. Ebenezer church was the first M. E. church built in Indiana and
the ladies took advantage of this fact
to give a historical social at which they gave as souvenirs pieces of wood
from the old church.

Condition Critical.

John McDonald is lying in a critical condition with blood poisoning. He received a small scratch in the hand
causing inflammation to set in and the
trouble has gone to the body and moving down the extremities. This will be surprising news to our people. Mr.

Shot Himself in the Jaw.

Joseph Browning, of Bedford, shot
himself in the jaw with a double-barrel
shotgun last night. Whether it was by accident or was premeditated is not known, there being no one present at the time. Recently he had been taken from the insane asylum at Indianapolis,
where he spent some time. Physicians managed to check the hemorrhage after some difficulty, and he may recover.

"The Man in the Iron Mask," which
will be presented at the Opera House
Wed., December 16, by Donald Robertson, Miss Brandon Douglas and company is deserving of liberal patronage.
The costumes are elegant and vividly
represent the beauty and luxury of the French court in the heyday of Bourbon
monarchy during the seventeenth century. Donald Robertson assumes the dual role of King Louis XIV and his
twin brother, Gaston, "The Man in the Iron Mask," and performs the difficult feat of clearly differentiating them with marked ability. Miss Douglas appears as Marie D'Orleans, the devoted woman who defies the court and its de-
praved officials, and despite the threats
of royal power clings to Gaston. He is finally cast into a dungeon and compelled to wear an iron mask. Marie enters a convent and after years of inquiry into the fate of her lover finds
him in prison with the heavy metal
pressing into his brain.

The big holiday stock has come, the
elegant presents are now on exhibition.

Twice-a-Week Courier-Journal.

Beginning the first of the new year,
the Weekly Courier-Journal, of Loui-
ville, Ky., will be changed to the Twice-
a-week Courier-Journal. It will be published Wednesday and Saturday mornings. The paper will be six pages, or twelve pages a week, instead of ten
pages weekly, as at present, an increase of 832 columns of matter during the year. The Wednesday issue will be devoted exclusively to news and politics,
while the Saturday issue will be strictly
a family paper—filled with stories, miscellany, pictures, poetry, sketches, etc.
The politics of the paper will not be changed, and the battle for pure democracy and true democracy principles will
be continued successfully in the future
as in the past. In spite of the expense
involved in the improvements noted
the price of the Twice-a-week Courier-
Journal will remain the same, one dollar a year, with liberal inducements to agents or old subscribers who send in new ones. A feature during the coming year will be the editorials of Mr.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

At this time of the year a cold is very easily contracted, and if left to run its course without the aid of some reliable cough medicine is liable to result in that dread disease, pneumonia. We extensively and it has always given entire satisfaction.—Olagah, Ind. Ter.

have used it for colds and la grippe, we have never yet learned of a single case having resulted in pneumonia. Persons

John R. McLean's Great Newspaper.

Without a single exception, there is beyond doubt no greater or more popular newspaper in the United States than the Cincinnati Enquirer; or a more successful publisher than its proprietor, Mr. John R. McLean.

The old-time prices for the Daily Enquirer have been maintained, and its circulation largely increased each year; hard times and cheaper journals failing to arrest its onward march and high appreciation of the public for its true worth and merit.

The Weekly Enquirer at beginning of the campaign year was offered at 50 cents a year, and its circulation increased by the addition of over 200,000 new subscribers; the most substantial and coveted testimonial a publisher could desire.

When asked for the secret of such success, Mr. McLean frankly answers: The Enquirer has no opinions to force upon its patrons, it simply prints the facts and tells the truth that the reader may form his own opinions. By maintaining the price of the paper, more news and greater variety can be furnished, and every class of business interests catered to, which a cheaper journal cannot afford.

The very liberal support given the Enquirer by the public at large, makes it incumbent upon the management to serve it faithfully with zeal and enterprise in minor matters as well as those of greater magnitude.

FREAK FACTORIES.

Showmen Have No Trouble in Providing New Attractions.

"How do you manage to find new freaks and curiosities?" was the question asked of the manager of a traveling show that had pitched its tent in a London suburb.

"Don't have to find them," was the laconic response. "They find us. The freak business is as regularly established as any other and has its wholesale and retail firms, traveling salesmen, brokers, price lists, factories."

"Factories?" queried the reporter, aghast.

"Why, certainly, factories, of course. The freak business is divided into about three varieties—foreign, domestic and fake."

"In the first class the collectors travel all over the world in search of rarities, but the very best freaks come from India and the Malay peninsula. In these countries there are people who breed freaks. They buy young children and animals and deform them while their bones are soft by all manners of means. Then they are constantly on the outlook for genuine natural freaks, and in those lands the birth of a freak occurs very frequently. The headquarters of this business is at Singapore."

"Of course there are the faked freak men—a perfect host in themselves. If the proprietor of some little show needs an additional attraction and does not have the money to hire something good—for, like everything else, freaks have their price—he can get something for little money that will serve his purpose."

"The real, genuine live freaks always command high prices and travel all over the world in order to exhibit themselves. Most of them have regular routes mapped out by their advance agents, just like theatrical companies, and as they only appear at a place at long intervals they never get stale, and sometimes make bigger hits on their second or third appearance than on their first."

—London Mail.

AN AMUSING DEBATE.

The Subject Was Serious Enough, but the Situation Was Comical.

When, in the old days of trouble between the English and French, there was talk of sending Admiral Hawke to sea to keep watch over the enemy's fleet, there occurred a notable interview. It was November. The weather was stormy and dangerous for vessels and the government was not agreed as to sending them out.

Mr. Pitt, who was in bed with gout, was obliged to receive those who had business with him in his chamber. This room had two beds and no fire. The Duke of Newcastle came to him to consider the sending out of the fleet, and had scarcely entered the room when he cried out, shivering all over with cold: "How is this? No fire?"

The duke, wrapped in his cloak, took a seat by the invalid's bedside and began talking, but he found himself unable to endure the cold.

"Pray allow me!" he exclaimed suddenly, and, without taking off his cloak, he buried himself in the other bed and continued the conversation. He was strongly opposed to risking the fleet in the November gales. Mr. Pitt was absolutely resolved that it should put to sea, and both argued the matter with much warmth. It was the only warmth, indeed, in the room.

"I am positively determined that the fleet shall sail," said Pitt, accompanying his words with the most lively gesticulations.

"It is impossible! It will perish!" said the duke, with equal emphasis.

At the moment the discussion waxed hottest another dignitary of the realm came in and found it difficult to keep his countenance at the sight of two ministers deliberating on a matter of so grave importance from such a novel situation.

The fleet did put to sea, and Mr. Pitt's judgment proved to be right. The enemy was crippled and a signal advantage gained.—Youth's Companion.

All About Love.

"Say, I'm in love," confided the fard dealer to the lookout during a lull in the play.

"Why, you don't know what love is," laughed the lookout.

"Don't you believe it?" retorted the dealer. "Love is a game that Cupid deals. He has a crooked layout, and the bank wins every bet. If you copper a case in his game it's sure to win; if you play a case open it loses, and you're in big luck if you don't get whipsawed in every turn. If a man calls the turn it's a 1 to 10 shot he drops dead."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

ADOBE BUILDINGS.

SIMPLE ARCHITECTURE OF MUD HOUSES IN NEW MEXICO.

How the Bricks Are Made—They Have Straw in Them and Are Sun Dried. Dwellings Made in This Way Are Very Durable—A Favorable Climate.

Architectural engineering is a branch of the gentle art of making mud pies in the land where the adobe houses grow. In the land of sunshine, where a rainy day is so rare that it is marked with a red cross, the native contractor and builder wastes no time figuring on the strength of material, the crushing limit of tubular columns and the wind pressure per square foot of elevation. He does not pore over blue prints of plans, cross sections and elevations, nor does he whittle down his figures to the finest point so as to come under some other contractor's bid. He simply rolls his trousers up above his knees, digs down in a favored ditch or pond until he strikes the "dobe mud," and in a short time he is ready to begin constructive operations.

Adobe houses are brick houses, but the brick is sun dried and made with straw. The clay or mud of which the brick is made is a natural cement peculiar to the arid plains of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and that belt of states and territories. It is turned out in the most primitive manner, and the Blue Island brickmaker who might happen upon a half breed or Mexican "dobe" brickmaker would view the operation with amusement or disgust. Kiln burned brick, made of blue clay, however, would not meet the requirements imposed by the climatic conditions of those countries where adobe brick is used.

In summer an adobe house is cool; in winter it is warm. Its thick walls absorb the occasional rain, and, although the sun dried brick is soft compared to the kiln dried article, it does not crumble, and it stands for ages.

A man who recently traveled through New Mexico was much interested in the "dobe" houses. For weeks he inquired and searched for a "dobe" house in the hands of the builders. At length in Santa Fe he stumbled upon a couple of men stamping with their bare feet upon clay in a wooden frame. He inquired and found that he was looking upon two Mexicans making adobe brick. In describing the process he said:

"The men actually dug up the 'dobe' mud from the bottom of the ditch which skirted the road. They mixed it, or, as we say, 'tempered' it with water until it was of a stiff, clayey consistency. Then they chopped alfalfa hay into short pieces and mixed it with the clay, and their material was ready to make into brick. A wood frame lay on the ground. This frame was filled with the 'dobe' mud mixed with hay, and one of the men got into the frame and stamped the mud down with his bare feet, at the same time tamping it with a stick. After the frame was packed hard he scraped the surplus mud off with a stick, so that the top surface was level with the upper edges of the frame, and then lifting the frame from the clay he carried the brick to one side of the road and stood it on its edge. The next brick he made he leaned against the first one, and soon he had a dozen large bricks—each twice as wide and long and thick as an ordinary brick—drying in the sun. One of the men told me that the bricks would be ready to lay in three or four days, and that they used the mud which the bricks are made of for the plaster."

"The walls of an adobe house are very thick, sometimes two or three feet, and in the ordinary one story adobe house, which is characteristic of that region, they are built up perfectly plain until they reach the roof. The roof is supported on wooden beams, laid edgewise on the walls, and the bricks are built up level with the top of the beams between the timbers, leaving the edge of the rafters exposed. The roof has a slight slant, and is made of adobe bricks. When it rains, the water soaks into the roof bricks, but does not begin to drip down into the rooms below until the rain is over. Then the family moves out until the water is through with its dripping. I saw an adobe house in Santa Fe which was built in the sixteenth century, and, so far as I could see, the walls were as strong and good as any house around there."

"Walls are built of stone, plastered with adobe cement, if I may so call it, and such walls are strong and solid. I suppose if that country had half as much rain as falls in Chicago the 'dobe' houses would after a time crumble away, but the average year in New Mexico is made up of 187 days of unclouded sky, 189 days when sunshine predominates and only 99 days of cloud, so that the rainfall does not amount to much more than a good sized fall of dew."

It is estimated that an adobe house costs about $100 a room, but there are mansions built of this material which cost not less than $80,000 to construct. When the "Americans" settled in New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, Nevada and the lower part of California they accepted the treacherous condition of the country and built their houses of 'dobe' mud.—Chicago Record.

Kentucky's Names.

Kentucky is known as the Corn Cracker State, from a game bird enjoying the same name which was formerly found in great abundance in most parts of the state. It is also called the Blue Grass State, from the belt of land running through the center in which this variety of grass grows to great perfection. In the early days of our history it was known as the Dark and Bloody Ground, being so termed by the Indians. It was then a debatable land between the Indians living north of the Ohio and those living in the mountains of Tennessee and Georgia, a sort of battleground for those tribes, which fact gave it the name long before it was settled by the whites.

LOVE IN THE CIRCUS.

TWO ROMANCES WHICH TERMINATED ON THE TRAPEZE.

How Sam Myers Proposed and Was Accepted by His Annie—The Tragedy Which Grew Out of the Love of the Howland Brothers For Jennie Dunbar.

"Ah!" "Oh!"

All the spectators of the giant leap for life in the circus tent held their breaths with terror while the lithe acrobat plunged forward, released his hold and shot through space, to be securely caught in the firm grasp of his partner, who hung from his toes from another treacherous trapeze.

Twelve thousand nine hundred and ninety-eight persons caught their breaths again as the feat was accomplished. The two remaining persons of the 18,000—a big circus tent always holds 18,000 persons, you know—watched the proceedings with an air of perfect nonchalance, as if a swing for life was no more serious matter than signaling an electric car.

Well might they be calm, for they were retired circus performers, and the perils of the tents were old stories to them, and then, as the show went on, they began exchanging reminiscences, while the listening Journal man forgot all about what was before him in his interest in these yarns.

"That jump reminds me of the way Sam Myers proposed to Annie Johnson ten years ago."

The Journal man noticed that the veteran circus man omitted the "Sigh" and "Ma'amself" from his conversation, so that Sam Myers and Annie Johnson did not bear in private life the names which adorned the circus programme and the part-colored lithographs which inflame the circus going propensities of Young America.

"You see, Sam" Myers and Pete Wilson and Annie Johnson were albinos that season and did a great act on the flying trapeze, in which Annie made ever so many jumps across the tent and was caught by Sam, while Pete was performing on a third bar way up above them. One jump after another was made all right by her, and suddenly everybody was surprised to see Sam lift Annie in the air as he caught her and kiss her before she turned to make the leap back to her own trapeze. Everybody wondered what it all meant, and after the act was over they soon found out.

"It seems that Sam and Pete had both fallen in love with Annie, and just before the act Pete confided to his chum his intentions of proposing to the pretty partner. Sam made up his mind that he would not be left in a case like this, but he had no chance to speak for himself until they began."

"When Annie made her first jump, he started to pop the question, and the proposal continued with interruptions as the young lady would swing back and forth and jump to and fro in the regular custom of her performance. Finally the question was asked just as she swung. Sam, hanging by his toes, waited until she made the next leap and as he heard her say 'Yes' he lifted her up and kissed her with such a smack that it could be heard all over the big tent."

"That reminds me of another team which was with a circus that I was performing in a dozen years ago. The Howland brothers were doing a double trapeze act, with all sorts of daring jumps, much the same sort as the one we just saw. In the same circus the leading rider was Jennie Dunbar, who was the cleverest little woman who ever jumped through a hoop, and both the boys fell in love with her."

"She was really fond of both of them, but when they proposed she accepted Will and told Fred that she could only be a sister to him. When Fred proposed, we were performing up in Canada, and the proposal was made just before the afternoon performances. When the boys came up for their turn, we all noticed that Fred was pale and nervous, while Will was just the reverse. Their act went on just the same as usual, and finally came their last jump, which was the most daring of all. Fred hung by his toes, and Will made the swing clear across the tent. We never knew how it happened, whether Fred was so nervous that he lost his grip or whether he did it deliberately, but just as Will came flying through the air Fred trembled and dropped from his hold down into the net, while Will shot through the air and fell in the ring clear beyond the edge of the net. When they ran to him, he was dead. Jennie was almost crazy with grief, and Fred had an attack of brain fever, from which he did not recover for months."

"No one could tell whether he deliberately dropped to get rid of his rival or whether he was so sick that he could not hold himself longer. At any rate, as soon as he got well he proposed to Jennie again and was accepted. They are married now and retired from the business."—Boston Journal.

A Novel Advertising Scheme.

An ingenious German bicycle manufacturer has invented the following device as an advertising scheme: He has published a notice in the daily press, according to which he promises to give a high grade machine and a bicycling suit to any one who pays 1 cent spot cash; but, according to the agreement, the purchaser must pay for two weeks the double of the amount that had been paid the preceding day. It is but a simple problem in arithmetic to discover that at the end of two weeks the bicycle and suit will have cost something over $160.

Ingenuous advertisements, as will be seen, are not confined exclusively to the United States.—Exchange.
